

Nature4Nature Summer School

Practical details

We are looking forward to welcoming you at the Concarneau Marine Station.

The Concarneau Marine Station is one of the 13 sites that belong to the Museum national d'Histoire naturelle and it is also the oldest Marine Station still in activity in the world. It is dedicated to research, teaching, expertise, dissemination of knowledge and collection management.

Concarneau is a small coastal town in southern Brittany, located at the very tip of the Région Bretagne. It was, once upon a time, a major sardine and tuna fishing port. Concarneau has dramatically transformed over the years to become a very attractive touristic town. Concarneau was initially restricted to a small Island surrounded by strong fortified walls built during the 1300's. The original town has survived until today and constitutes what now is called the « Ville Close ».

Concarneau is also famous for being the entry port to the Glénan archipelago, worth visiting too, only a few nautical miles offshore.

You may find it is more convenient to flight to Brest or to Nantes...

There are indeed more flights to Brest and Nantes than to Quimper. We will be glad to help should you need more information.

Travelling by train from Paris to Quimper or Rosporden

<https://www.sncf-connect.com/en-en/>

SNCF is the French national railway system and you need to book your train tickets using their web site. TGV trains have to be booked in advance.

You may want to search for trains to Rosporden or Quimper in order to find the best travel solution according to your schedule.
